

Our Mission

Our mission is to enable our clients to live independently and safely in their own home for as long as possible. A recent survey commissioned by AARP found that over 90% of those age 65 and older want to remain in their current residence for as long as possible. In-home care assists the elderly in achieving that goal and provides many emotional and financial advantages for those who can no longer live alone without outside assistance. The advantages most important to many seniors are:

- Minimize Change. Change can be difficult for all of us, but a change in surroundings and routines can be particularly stressful and upsetting for the elderly.
- Maintain Independence. For those who have taken care of themselves for decades, the prospect of adhering to a set mealtime or activity schedule can be emotionally challenging.
- Maintain Personal Belongings. The thought of moving into unfamiliar surroundings and leaving (or selling) their personal belongings can be extremely traumatic.

If you are facing a tough decision regarding the living arrangements or the care for a loved one, please explore our website, our Facebook page or call for a risk-free assessment.

Kevin and Lori Edwards

Like many in the home care industry, Kevin experienced the value of dependable and compassionate caregivers when he needed care for a family member. Kevin's wife, Lori, was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis in 2007 and, at times, needs assistance with the activities of daily living. Kevin and Lori have three children.

Prior to Kevin acquiring Elder Care, he spent over 10 years with an industry leading health benefits company working in the Medicare Advantage segment to maintain and improve the health and quality of life of seniors in the Kansas City and surrounding areas.

“Elder Care saved my father's life. They went above and beyond their duties to help my father in every way. I am so thankful for all their help. When distance separates families it becomes difficult to keep everyone informed. Elder Care breaks the gap and kept me informed on everything. You all are great and I really appreciate your help.”
